APPENDIX C - EMPLOYEE AND FAMILY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (EFAP)

Between
John Howard Society of Saskatchewan and
Saskatchewan Government and General Employees' Union

It is recognized by both parties that many health, social and personal problems can be successfully resolved and that professional assistance is in the best interest of the employee, Union and the employer.

It is therefore agreed that the two parties jointly establish and implement an Employee and Family Assistance Program.

1) JOINT LABOUR/MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE

A Joint Labour/Management Committee, having equal representation from the Union and the employer, will be formed to develop the policy statements and operating guidelines of a new Employee and Family Assistance Program (EFAP).

Union and Management shall each appoint two appropriate representatives to the Joint EFAP Committee to ensure that it is capable of discharging its duties and responsibilities, as are jointly agreed upon.

This body shall be responsible to assist in and direct the development, implementation, and updating of the EFAP. They will also assist in the preparation and presentation of training, education and information activities within the EFAP to ensure stewards and supervisors are familiar with the objectives and procedures required to effectively implement the program.

The agreed upon number of persons engaged in the Joint EFAP Committee shall be given sufficient time, with no loss in pay, to perform program duties. The Joint Committee will meet quarterly.

2) OBJECTIVES

The objectives of the Employee and Family Assistance Program will be to encourage employees to voluntarily seek assistance for personal problems, and to assist those employees whose personal problems are adversely affecting their work performance.

- 3) The Committee shall select an independent agency as an advisor to the Committee and determine what range of services each employee will receive who accesses the EFAP.

4) PROGRAM ACCESS

Every permanent employee shall have access to the EFAP. Employees who hold temporary, part-time or casual status who have worked a consistent work pattern over a twelve (12) month period shall also have access to the Program.

Program benefits shall cease upon termination of employment.

5) EMPLOYEE RIGHTS

The fact that an employee has been accepted into the Program will not, by itself, jeopardize job security nor create discrimination in promotional opportunities.

Employees participating in the Program shall be entitled to all rights and benefits as provided in the current Collective Agreement, as well as to future Program benefits as agreed to be the Joint Union-Management Program.

6) CONFIDENTIALITY

Every effort will be made to retain confidentiality as to an employee's participation and the reason for an employee's involvement in the Program. Community agency treatment records, medical reports, or other reports arising from an individual's health assessment will be released only with the informed written consent of the employee.

7) EMPLOYEE RESPONSIBILITY

The decision to accept involvement in the Program is the personal responsibility of the employee. Employees participating in the Program will be expected to meet existing job performance standards and established work rules, except where, in the judgment of the agencies, those rules or standards are inappropriate to affect the resolution of the problem.

PROGRAM OPERATION

- 1) The service is designed to assist eligible employees and/or members of their immediate families (spouse or dependent children) who are experiencing personal difficulties and who choose to seek out the assistance on a voluntary basis.
- 2) No personal information that is given to the counsellor by an employee will be shared with any other source, either within the organization or the general community, without the written consent of the employee in question, unless required by law.
- 3) Employees may gain access to the service through voluntary or self-referrals, suggested referrals or mandatory referrals.

In the case of a voluntary referral, the employer is notified only that an employee has contacted the independent agency directly. Employees may also ask their employer, steward or other person to arrange the first appointment with the Agency. No entries are made in the employee's record and the strictest confidence is maintained. This is the most common and preferred type of referral.

If in the normal evaluation of performance, the employer has reason to believe that an employee has a personal problem that may adversely contribute to his/her work performance; the employer may suggest that the employee consider an interview with a counsellor. In such cases the written record of the interview may note that the suggested referral was made by the employer.

A mandatory referral is available to the employer when there is a documented case for disciplinary action or termination of an employee. If the employee rejects the offer of mandatory referral, the normal disciplinary procedures will resume. The mandatory referral must be fully explained to the employee in a face-to-face meeting with the employer. It must be emphasized that participation is still voluntary and that decisions related to continued employment must be based on job performance - not attendance or non-attendance at an EFAP.

In this instance, the employer will be informed only if the employee has attended counselling and is willing to seek assistance for the problem. No personal information about the employee or his/her problem is indicated to the employer.

- 4) While suggested or mandatory referrals may be used by the employer in dealing with an employee whose performance is in question, this is not an automatic step in the progressive disciplinary procedure.
- 5) The Agency will maintain a clearly neutral role in matters affecting the relationship between the employer and its employees. The Agency representatives will work within the frame of reference of the employer's EFAP design, but are primarily accountable to the Agency. These representatives cannot be required by the employer to act outside of the Code of Ethics of the profession, or the Policy of the Agency.
- 6) The Agency staff will be available during normal working hours to take referrals. An answering service is available at other times. Counselling to employees and their families is available during normal working hours. Where employees are not able to come during this time, arrangements will be made to see them in the evenings or on weekends.
- 7) The Agency undertakes the primary responsibility for the treatment of a troubled employee or family who requires service, or where appropriate referral to other services is indicated. In the case of referral, the counsellor tracks the matter sufficiently to establish that the employee is connected with the resource and provides follow-up services as required.
- 8) The Agency will provide periodic consultations for planning, monitoring, and evaluation of the service as decided between the Organization and the Agency. The rate is agreed on and outlined in the Contract.
- 9) The Agency will provide quarterly statistics and a program report on usage, type of problems and other items helpful for monitoring the program. Confidentiality will be maintained.

PROGRAM MODEL

TREATMENT

- 1) The employer must be advised when an employee accesses the EFAP.
- 2) The Agency will advise the employer of the approximate number of interviews required with a counsellor regarding assessment and treatments.
- 3) The limit of employer-paid interviews and/or treatment shall be ten (10).
- 4) More than ten (10) interviews and/or treatments must have authorization from the Joint Committee by the Agency without jeopardizing the confidentiality of the client.
- 5) Employees shall have access to their sick leave if interview and/or treatment cannot be arranged outside of work time.

TYPE OF PROGRAM

- Fee for Service
- Fee for Service must provide priority access within 24 hours of request of access
